II. SEARCH BAR: BOOLEAN OPERATORS

EMIS SEARCH

2. Boolean Search Operators and Search Functionalities

Both within the search bar and in the "Refine Search" view in the results page, you are allowed to use Boolean operators. These are:

Operators	Examples
AND	Using AND means that you want all keywords with AND between them within the search results. So, if you search for telecom AND industry AND growth you will get hits containing all 3 words. Please note that AND is the default Boolean operator we use (except in Chinese language, where OR is the default), so if you do not add any other operators between keywords, we consider that you want to see all keywords in the results. If you type telecom industry for instance, it is equivalent to telecom AND industry .
OR	telecom OR industry This search will retrieve articles that contain either the word telecom or industry or both.
NOT	telecom NOT industry This search will retrieve articles that contain the word telecom , but not industry .
NEAR	Internet nearN banking (where N is an integer) This search will retrieve articles that contain Internet within N words (or less) of the keyword Banking . Note: The N is optional; if omitted, the number 10 is assumed. Values must be 1 or more.
Parentheses ()	Use parentheses () to separate search operators. Take for instance, a search such as the following: (PE OR "private equity") AND ITES This search will retrieve articles containing any of the words (phrases) in within the parentheses, and the word ITES .
*	bank* This will retrieve articles containing words derived from bank: bank, banks, banking, banker , etc. It can be used only at the end of words.
?	The ? operator will substitute for any character . Use ? to search for words which can be spelled in different ways. For example: if you search for organ?ation , the search will retrieve results containing either organisation or organization .
%, $, £, ¥, €, +	These special characters are considered in search, so if you will search for $100 , your search results will not contain words without "$".
Stemming	When you are doing a single language search, we enable stemming. Stemming means that we find your keyword's root form and we will search for all keywords with the similar root. For example: If you search for manufacturing , you will get results with the following keywords: manufacturing, manufacture, manufacturer, manufacturers etc. If you want to turn off stemming, put your keywords into quotation marks. Stemming is by default turned off in the following languages: Turkish, Hungarian

Please note that if you use any Boolean items in search, those are always treated as Boolean operators and not as keywords unless you put them into quotation marks. E.g. if you search for has not confirmed, you will get results containing has, but not confirmed. If you search for "has not confirmed", you will get articles containing the exact phrase has not confirmed.

III. SEARCH BAR: TIPS

- ❑ Use “Search Title Only” or “Search Title and Abstract Only” to ensure keywords bring out the most relevant results

- ❑ For reports:
  - Select “Country/Regional” reports to get country specific results. All countries are tagged to reports classified as “Global”
  - Switch between “Broker” and “Non-Broker Research”

- ❑ Sort by “Newest” content to receive the most recent results or by “page count” to receive the most comprehensive reports at the top

- ❑ See next slide for example
